Highlighting our Hallelujah

This is our last week to highlight a choral “hallelujah” setting with the intent to bury this musical component during Lent. We will bury the “hallelujah” or “alleluia” throughout our worship beginning on Ash Wednesday (February 18) to reflect the focus on introspection, reflection, and waiting during our upcoming Lenten season. We will await to uncover the “hallelujah” on Easter, the celebration of the risen Lord.

Celebrating Black History Month

FUMC will focus on celebrating Black History Month through musical selections offered in worship during the month of February. Selections will largely focus on the history of African American song that includes spirituals, gospel, and Africana inspired musical compositions.
